Literacy

Try and read the text below. Ask a grown up to help you if you get stuck .

Then answer the questions

Once there were two dogs called Lucy and Daisy. Lucy was brown and white. Daisy was black and white. They liked to run and jump in their garden. One day they jumped so high that they hit the moon!

The moon was cold and slippery. The moon was cross with the dogs because they woke her up, and so they jumped onto the sun. The sun was too hot for the dogs, and their paws began to sweat, so they jumped off and went back home. At home they went in the garden to have a rest.

" I like home. It is not too hot and not too cold" said Lucy

" Yes, home is best!" replied Daisy

Questions (Try and answer in full sentences.)

1. The names of the dogs are Lucy and Meg Spotty Daisy.
2. The dogs can run jump read very high.
3. What did the dogs land on first?
4. How did the moon feel?
5. Why did the dogs' paws sweat?

True or False?

At home it is too hot

The sun was angry

Lucy is black and white

The dogs like home the best

Discussion

This week we are once more thinking about our emotions and feelings.

Think about a time you have been really happy. What made you so happy?

Was it something you saw? Something you heard? Something you got?

Perhaps it was a present?

Perhaps somebody gave you a hug?

If you could say three things that really make you happy, what would they be?

Talk to your family about what makes them happy.

Can we make people happy without spending any money?
